How the service is provided:

Admission, Trial period and Termination

Long Term and Respite:

Most admissions follow a referral by a Social Worker who will provide essential information. This includes a comprehensive assessment, a care and support plan and a risk assessment.

Where there is no social worker involvement and an admission follows a self-referral, the home may consider admission and will base the decision whether or not to offer a placement on the outcome of the provider needs assessment.

The provider needs assessment is undertaken with the prospective resident, and/or if appropriate with their next of kin/representative and professionals. The prospective resident will be invited to spend the day at the home and have lunch. From observation and discussions with the resident and /or their representatives the individual's life history, choices, needs, preferences, outcomes and associated risks will be determined and will inform the Personal Plan and Risk Assessments which will be created prior to admission and which will be regularly reviewed.

Ty Dyfan reserves the right to refuse admission if it is deemed the home does not have the required skills mix or resources to meet the individual's assessed needs.

Emergency Admission:

The initial contact will be via the Social Worker, the Vale of Glamorgan Contact and Information Centre or the Emergency Duty Team.

Ty Dyfan requires that all essential information available to the social worker is provided. From observation and discussion with the resident and /or their representatives the individual's life history, choices, needs, preferences, outcomes and associated risks will be determined and inform an initial personal plan and risk assessment which will be completed within 24 hours of admission.

Where circumstances have prevented completion of a social worker assessment prior to placement, the social worker must fully assess the client and provide a care and support plan within 48 hours of an emergency admission. In the case of an admission during the weekend or bank holiday, this period is extended to 96 hours. On receipt of the social worker assessment and care and support plan Ty Dyfan will review and update the initial Personal Plan and risk assessment as appropriate.

When the emergency placement extends beyond 5 days, a formal review meeting is arranged and attended by the Social Worker, the Home Manager or Deputy Manager, the client and/or their representative to determine suitability of placement and future arrangements. Ty Dyfan will review and update the Personal Plan and Risk Assessment as appropriate.

The home reserves the right not to extend the placement if the care provided is not appropriate to the clients' needs or if the placement has an adverse effect on the wellbeing of others.

An emergency placement does not commit the client to a longer term arrangement nor does it imply the right for the client to remain.

Trial Period:

Newly admitted residents have four weeks in which to decide whether Ty Dyfan is where they would like to live on a longer term. After this period the resident or their representative will be asked to sign the terms and conditions from which point a month notice is required to end the arrangement.

This first month also provides an opportunity for the staff to get to know the resident. From observation and discussions with the resident and /or their representatives the individual's life history, choices, needs, preferences, outcomes and associated risks will be determined. This knowledge will further inform the Personal Plan and Risk Assessments which will be under constant review during this period.

During the trial period Ty Dyfan reserves the right not to extend the placement if doing so poses a risk the individual or to others or if it is deemed the home does not have the required skills mix or resources to ensure the individual's needs can be met.

Termination:

Once the Terms and Conditions have been accepted residents are required to give a month notice unless it is determined their needs can no longer be met in Ty Dyfan and they require a transfer to another facility. In this circumstance, Ty Dyfan will close the bed on the day of transfer or on the day of notification if this decision is made in hospital. The same terms will apply following the death of a resident.

Personal belongings will be stored in the resident's bedroom for up to 1 week free of charge after which belongings will be carefully packed and stored for a further week after which we will dispose unless an alternative agreement is reached with the manager.

Bay Unit (Reablement)

For admission from hospital:

Initial contact will be by the hospital who refer to the Vale of Glamorgan Community Resource Team (VCRS) and follow their referral process. The VCRS team will contact the ward team directly to gather further information and arrange a face to face screening assessment of the person identified and create a Personal Plan.

For admission from the community:

Admission from the community can be arranged to prevent unnecessary admission to hospital when a referral to the Vale of Glamorgan Community Resource Team (VCRS) can be made by GP surgeries. Alternatively admission to can be deemed suitable progression from the home reablement service. The VCRS team will gather further information and arrange a face to face screening assessment of the person identified and create a Personal Plan.
